<<Die Frau ohne Schatt>>

内容概要

Die Frau ohne Schatten ("The Woman without a Shadow") is widely regarded as Richard Strauss' finest score. This enchanting opera stars a pair of childless couples—a fairy-empress and her huntsman-emperor husband, the poor dyer Barak and his grim wife—plus a supporting cast of spirits, secret messengers, and disembodied voices in a dreamlike landscape. The opera, which premiered in 1919, features a libretto based on an original story by Strauss' frequent collaborator, Hugo von Hofmannsthal. Its fairy-tale allegory evokes the world of Mozart's The Magic Flute, brought to vibrant life with the composer's spectacular, lush orchestral score—the most fantastically intricate work in the long career of this master orchestrator. An absolute must for students and admirers of Strauss' craft, this volume provides an authoritative edition of the opera's full score. Dover (2004) unabridged republication Ffirstner, Berlin, 1919. vi+666pp. 93/8x 121/4of the original edition by Adolph Paperbound.
