<<变局与实践>>

内容概要

《理论与实践(解读中共执政方略)(英文版)/解读中国》编著者李忠杰。

Since its birth in 1921, the CPC has won significant achievements in leading China's revolution, construction and reform while making unremitting efforts and painstaking exploration, eventually succeeding in bringing about a new outlook to a country that already has a 5,000-year history of civilization and opening up ever bright prospects for the great revitalization of the Chinese nation. In this book, the contributors reviewed in depth the CPC's governance practice and experience from different perspectives, including reform and opening up, scientific development, national economy, development of democracy, cultural development, social life and people's well-being, national defense, national reunification, peaceful development, foreign relations and building of the CPC.

章节摘录

Mao Zedong Thought represents the application and development of Marxism in China; it consists of a body of theoretical principles concerning the revolution and construction in China, and a summary of experience therein. All of them have proved themselves in practice. They represent the crystallized, collective wisdom of the Communist Party of China. The second leap happened after the start of reform and opening-up drive. The main achievement was the development of the system of socialist theory with Chinese characteristics, which includes the Deng Xiaoping Theory, the "Important Thought of Three Represents," the Scientific Outlook on Development, and other examples of important strategic thinking. Following the Third Plenum of the 11th Party Central Committee Chinese Communists, represented by Comrade Deng Xiaoping, summarized the positive and negative experience of the Party since the founding of New China, emancipated their minds and sought truth from facts, realized a shift in the focus of the Party's work to economic construction, carried out reform and opening-up, ushered in a new era in the development of the socialist cause, gradually developed the principles and policies for building socialism with Chinese characteristics and clarified the basic problems on building, consolidating and development socialism, eventually bringing into birth the Deng Xiaoping Theory.

Following the Fourth Plenum of the 13th Party Central Committee Chinese Communists, represented by Comrade Jiang Zemin maintained the principle of building socialism with Chinese characteristics. They refined their understanding of the nature of socialism, how to build socialism, what kind of Party to build, and how to build it. They accumulated valuable new experience on ruling the Party and state, and developed the "Important Thought of Three Represents." Since the 16th National Congress of the CPC, the Party's central committee, with comrade Hu Jintao as the General Secretary, has adhered to the guidance of Deng Xiaoping Theory and the "Important Thought of Three Represents," and expressed the collective wisdom of the Party in terms of a new request to follow the Scientific Outlook on Development, a strategy which is people-oriented and promotes comprehensive, balanced, and sustainable development. The theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics adheres to and develops Marxism-Leninism and Mao Zedong Thought, and epitomizes the wisdom and experience gained from the exploration and practice of generations of Chinese people under the leadership of the CPC. It is the latest achievement of China's localization of Marxism, the most valuable political and spiritual treasure of the Party, and the common ideological ground for unity and struggle between people of all ethnic groups in China. Its formation and development indicates that the CPC has reached new heights in its understanding of the law of CPC's rule, the law of socialist construction and the law of development of the human society, thus breaking new ground in the application of Marxism in China. The two leaps were the historical results of the Party's dialectical handling of the relationship between theory and practice, and of its accurate assessment of China's prevailing conditions and the application of Marxism. The two achievements encapsulate the innovative progress of the CPC's guiding principles, and show the path to revolution, construction and reform in a country like China.
