后记

章节摘录

China suffered the bulk of Japan ' s aggression and atrocities , having lost estimated 35 million of lives and astronomical figures of properties and precious cultural relics。 made millions of Chinese women raped and killed or become “ comfort women ” of the Japanese Imperial Army , a beast organization as termed in the report by the Nazi Embassy at Nanking to Berlin during the Nanking Massacre. The 50th anniversary of the San Francisco Peace Conference and Treaty should be the best occasion for the Japanese government and people to make true remorse for their aggression and atrocities against the Chinese and other Asian peoples and make a formal apology and just compensations for all their victims. We support Congressmen Michael Honda's and Dana Rohrabacher's House bill that the United States should initiate to renegotiate the terms of the Treaty , as well as Supervisors Leland Yee ' s and Tom Ammiano ' s proposed resolution : The U.S. and San Francisco City must urge the government of Japan to apologize for its wartime atrocities and provide just compensation for the surviving victims !

3) PERSON OF THE YEAR Sept. 11 delivered both a shock and a surprise-the attack and our response to it - and we can argue forever over which mattered more. There has been so much talk of the goodness that erupted that day that we forget how unprepared we were for it. We did not expect much from a generation that had spent its middle age examining all the ways it failed to measure up to the one that had come before-all fat, no muscle. Less a beacon to the world than a bully , drunk on blessings taken for granted. It was tempting to say that Sept. 11 changed all that , just as it is tempting to say that every hero needs a villain , and goodness needs evil as its grinding stone. But try looking a widow in the eye and talking about all the good that has come of this. It may not be a coincidence , but neither is its partnership : good does not need evil , we owe no debt to demons , and the attack did not make us better. It was an occasion to discover what we already were.
