<<江南古典私家园林>>

内容概要

To build a garden is to build a paradise. As the tangible expression of wonder, gardens are intended to be peaceful retreats and resting places for the soul. Standing in the gardens, we not only see pavilions, pagodas, terraces, mountains, water, flowers and grass, but also sense what Chinese people of centuries past appreciated and believed. From Taoism they took the concept of letting things take their own course, so they imitated the natural flow of rivers and lakes.
